Brittney Bruno Kozek

Brittney is the owner of Flow House Yoga and a dog mom of two. She has been teaching for ten years, creating grounded and welcoming spaces for thoughtful practice and genuine connection. Trained in both power and yin yoga, her teaching balances strength and stillness with care and intention. This retreat to Calabria, Italy holds deep personal meaning for Brittney, as it is where her grandfather was born and raised, making the journey a celebration of heritage. She loves travel as a way to experience culture, expand perspective, and deepen appreciation for life beyond the familiar, and sharing these experiences with others is one of her greatest passions.

Luisa Cilurzo Spinella

Luisa is a Calabrian native who weaves together her roots, her love for cultural exchange, and over 20 years of yoga teaching experience into her classes. A certified E-RYT with Yoga Alliance, she is trained in Vinyasa, Yin, and many other styles, with a strong focus on asana technique, posture, and alignment. Her teaching is grounded, accessible, and adaptable, supporting students of all experience levels, with meditation at the heart of the practice as an invitation to slow down, listen inward, and cultivate presence. Having always loved experiencing different cultures and connecting with people, she deeply enjoys sharing her Calabrian background through yoga, movement, and lived experience, and teaching in this land feels like a true honor and homecoming.

about calabrian culture

In Calabria, time unfolds at a slower, more relational pace. Meals are unhurried, conversations linger, and presence is valued over efficiency. Life is shaped by seasonal rhythms rather than strict schedules, creating space for connection, care, and shared experience.

Calabria is not overproduced or performative. Beauty reveals itself in food made from what's nearby, worn stone streets, and untouched landscapes, where comfort comes from authenticity. Social life extends beyond the home into piazzas, streets, and along the lungomare (boardwalk) during the evening passeggiata (customary evening walk), where a natural warmth and closeness among people is felt. There is a quiet sense of belonging rooted in the timeless beauty of the place.

Calabria moves at a slower pace. Flexibility is part of the experience. This retreat is centered on authenticity and presence rather than luxury, inviting you to immerse yourself in a real cultural travel experience.
